

Jamie and Brie

One day while Jamie and Brie walked to school like they always did, they saw rubbish in the gutter and on the footpath. Jamie and Brie were horrified, they thought it was disgusting the way people treated their town.

Once they got to school they saw even more rubbish. It was in the play grounds, in the eating area and even in the bushes. By this time Jamie and Brie were absolutely disgusted. Once they got to class they went to see their teacher, Mr Ace. Mr Ace said "There was nothing he could do, even if all three of them tidied the school, the other children would mess it up again." So Jamie and Brie decided to take matters into their own hands and go talk to their principal.

Later that afternoon Jamie and Brie went to talk to their principal, Miss Hugh. They told her they are willing to dedicate their Sunday to tidying up the school. She told them she would very much appreciate that.

So that Sunday, Jamie and Brie met outside the school gates nice and early at 7:00am. They both knew that this was going to take a long time to do, so they got straight to work. They started off with the prep area first. That wasn't too bad because the preps were being taught to put their rubbish in the bin. Then they went ahead with the rest of the school, they both agreed the year 6 and 7 areas were the worst.

At 5:35pm, Jamie and Brie had finished tidying the whole school. Going the whole day without an eating break was making them feel sick, so they tiredly walked down to Subway and got themselves a sub each.

On Monday they walked to school together like it was any other day, but they walked with their heads held high, feeling good about what they had done. Jamie and Brie were thinking that everybody was going to love them and that they were going to be heroes. As soon as they walked through the gates, Jamie and Brie felt sick and were full of anger. Jamie and Brie were so mad they didn't even wait till after school to go talk with Miss Hugh. They both walk straight into her office and the first two words she said was "I'm sorry."

She told Jamie and Brie that the only way the other children would listen is if they talked to the children at assembly this Friday. So they decide they would, if it stopped all this littering.

On Friday Jamie and Brie gave an amazing speech. All the children listened and understood what they were saying. A year 5 girl stood up and suggested that if there were more rubbish bins around the school it would encourage kids to put their rubbish away.

So Miss Hugh's did just that. From that day on the school was as clean as a whistle and it is all thanks to Jamie and Brie.
